WINE DRINKERS TO PAY LESS

Price Reduction Went Into Effect On Saturday — Grape Growers Opposed Reduction.

Those who find wines most palatable will pay less for their liquid refreshment commencing on Saturday morning, May 16th, according to word received at all wineries throughout the province Thursday from J. A. McGeachie, comptroller of the Liquor Control Board. The reduction was the outcome of a controversy which started more than five months ago.

Grape growers fought hard against any reduction, claiming that their business suffered from the low price now charged, but operators of wineries argued before the Liquor Control Board that the high price was hurting their business and suggested that the reduction be ten cents on a quart bottle. For months the "war" was carried on, but it was not until a few days ago that the board decided to compromise and reduce the price by just one-half of what the store owners wanted.

Commencing on Saturday, May 16, wine consumers will pay five cents less on a quart, 15 cents less on a half gallon jug and 25 cents on a gallon. No change in refunds on empty bottles was mentioned in the letter.

Commenting on the reduction of five cents per bottle in the retail selling price of native wine as announced by the liquor control board, Joseph J. Smith, of Winona, president of the Grape Growers' Association, stated: "The growers were neither consulted nor considered in this action. It is of no help to the growers at all. Our association is still strongly of the opinion that an improved quality of wine, by added grape content, would have been more approved of by the public than the decrease of five cents a bottle on the present quality of wine. If the proposition we made had been carried out it would have meant forty to fifty per cent increase in the quality of grapes used by wineries this year, and the improved quality of wine would naturally have increased its sale."

At the afternoon session Mrs. (Rev.) Currie and Mrs. Vance at Smithville conducted the worship service.

Repairing C.N.R. Tracks At Winona—Over 20 Men Are Employed

A gang of 25 men started work last week on the C.N.R. repairing tracks. This unit is the first of its kind in these parts and is part of the demobilization scheme of the federal government, whereby all camps formerly operated as a relief measure were discontinued and the men put to work on the railways throughout Canada. The men are nearly all single, very few heads of families being employed under the new scheme. Ninety camps have been established similar to the one operating here, the government paying the men on a relief basis. The camp itself is really a travelling caravanserai, railway cars being equipped as boarding and sleeping compartments. All the men employed on the job came from Kingston district.

—NUPTIALS—

LOCKE—LAMBERT

A pretty wedding of much interest took place on Thursday afternoon last at 2:30 o'clock at the United Manse when Doris Loreen, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Lambert of Grimsby became the bride of Ralph Pierce Locke, only son of Mr. R. P. Locke and the late Mrs. Locke of Beamsville. Rev. E. A. Earchman performed the ceremony.

The bride made a lovely picture in her gown of baby blue silk chiffon with jacket to match and wearing blue tulle hat with tiny veil and blue accessories. Her bouquet was of yellow roses, white carnations, baby's breath and maidenhair fern.

Mrs. James Durham, sister of the bride as matron-of-honor, was prettily gowned in pink organdy and pink moiré picture hat with silver accessories. She carried pink sweet peas and baby's breath.

Attending the groom was Mr. Alex Coverdale of Beamsville.

Following the ceremony a reception for the immediate families was held at the home of the bride's parents, Grimsby East, where a dainty buffet luncheon was served. Immediately following Mr. and Mrs. Locke left by motor for Barrie. They are residing at Beamsville.

Grimsby Music Festival Chorus Heard Over Network of Canadian Radio Commission

Blossom Time Festival Program Given Under Direction G. L. Eaton, Supervisor of Music in Schools of Grimsby And District, Widely Acclaimed — Chorus of 150 Voices Participated — Radio Listeners From Distant Points Voice Commendation of Program Broadcast Over C.K.T.B., St. Catharines — Councillor Lothian On Behalf of Municipality, Extends Civic Greetings And Tells of Beauties And Advantages of Grimsby And District.

Outstanding among the events held during the spring months is the Blossom Time Music Festival presented under the auspices of the Festival Committee and teachers of Grimsby, Hagar's, Park and Mountain Public Schools, assisted by the High School Glee Club and the Grimsby Young Men's Chorus, the Festival Chorus being composed of voices selected from the III and IV classes of associated schools.

This year's event which was again an auspicious success, with capacity audiences present, took place in Trinity Hall on Thursday and Friday evenings last and again unmistakably reflected the value of the musical instruction being given in the public schools under the competent direction of Mr. G. L. Eaton, supervisor of music and those associated with him. That they have the loyal and active co-operation of the school children is plainly evident and all participating are to be heartily congratulated on the results achieved.

The opening group of the festival chorus included "O Canada" and "Canada, Dear Land O'Mine" by Marshall which were sung with patriotic fervor while interspersing the two numbers was the delightful "Spring Song" by Sampson which was characterized by excellent phrasing.

Choruses which followed were "Gospel Joan" with descant and "Glow Worm" by Lincke which were sung with rhythmic swing while "A Farewell" pleasingly arranged by the conductor, Mr. G. L. Eaton and "I Know a Bank" by Horn were appealingly given. The chorus, "On Wings of Song" by Mendelssohn was especially well rendered, its lovely classic melody floating out smoothly and sweetly.

The junior choruses were as usual very popular including the quaint humorous melody "Nursery Rhymes", "Going to the Fair" by Wood, "The Owl" a folk tune and "Daisies" arranged by G. L. Eaton, all in part song, the children responding to the baton of their leader with a volume and quality of tone and rhythm most pleasing to hear.

The Rhythm band of little tots brought down the house with their contributions to the program, "The Anvil Chorus" being particularly effective.

Several excellent numbers were given by members of district schools comprising a selection by the Mountain school, S. S. No. 13, winners in the recent County Musical Festival for Public School Choruses for one room schools and selections by a Harmonica Band comprised of boys from the

BROADCAST OVER C.K.T.B.

The Blossom Time Music Festival which, during the past few years, has been the happy and appropriate feature of Blossom Time in Grimsby and district when "The Garden of Canada" presents a picture of entrancing loveliness, was this year for the first time broadcast over a Canadian Radio Commission Eastern and Mid-Western network of stations. The splendid program of musical numbers and official greetings from the district was heard by citizens of Canada from Halifax to Winnipeg and judging by the messages of congratulation and inquiry since received a most favourable impression of the district was conveyed and as a result information is being sought concerning this community as a place of residence and location for business enterprises.

The festival chorus in its broadcast upheld the high standard which has characterized its renderings under the capable direction of Mr. G. L. Eaton, supervisor of music in the schools of Grimsby and district. The chorus sang some of its most effective numbers, the voices being heard to excellent advantage over the radio, the program comprising the numbers "On Wings of Song" by Mendelssohn; "I Know a Bank" by Horn; "On Great Lone Hills" by Sibellus and "Morning" by Speaks, sung by The Grimsby Young Men's Chorus, "Glow Worm" by Lincke; "A Farewell" arranged by Mr. G. L. Eaton; solo "My Dreams" by Tosti sung by Jack Ansell; "Unto the Hills" (verse descant), "I Hear a Thrush At Eve" by Calman and "Soldiers Chorus" (Faust), by Gounod.

Bucket Brigade Saves Home of Wm. Kemp When Fire Breaks Out

Fire broke out in the roof of the fine old home of William Kemp, North Grimsby Township on Friday, noon. The first intimation of the fire was when their son, Ashley, noticed the roof in flames and immediately telephone calls were made to neighboring farmers for help.

Fortunately most of the family were at home for dinner and with the assistance of some 25 or 30 neighbors a bucket brigade was formed. With plenty of water available in the cistern and well they were soon able to gain control over the flames but before they had eaten their way into the attic. One of the fire fighters fell from the roof but escaped with a shaking up. Only by the quick response of kind neighbors to the scene was it possible to save the fine old frame residence which was built by the present owner's father, Thomas Arthur Kemp in 1873.

Governor General And Lady Tweedsmuir Visit The Niagara Peninsula

On Wednesday last, Governor-General and Lady Tweedsmuir visited St. Catharines and vicinity and all with whom the Vice-Regal party came into contact were unanimous in their opinion that the Governor-General and his charming lady were democratic to a most pleasing degree.

The program included a blossom time drive through the district to Port Dalhousie and thence along Ontario street, St. Catharines, to the Lake Shore Road and to Port Weller. Slow speed was observed across the Port Weller bridge, that their Excellencies might secure their first glimpse of the great Welland Ship Canal, which they later declared "wonderful".

The trip continued along the east side of the canal to Lock 2, via Carleton street to Church to Queenston street to Homer, thence along the canal road to the lift bridge just north of Lock 4.

The thrill of a life-time was enjoyed by the Governor-General and party at the lift bridge. Here the party was met by C. W. West, superintending engineer of the Ship Canal; Alex Grant, former Chief Engineer, and others, and the party delighted in a ride as the bridge ascended. From the (Continued on page 8.)

Heavy Damage From Severe Frost in Portions of Peninsula

The frost which has visited the district the past few nights has resulted in considerable damage to the young growth, particularly tomato plants in this district and more so on the top of the mountain. In the eastern part of the peninsula the damage is reported to be much heavier and the orchards have suffered as a result. Mr. George W. Lee, President of the Niagara Wine Grape Growers Association who owns a 60-acre farm in the district near Virgil and councillor Stanley Stirling, also of that vicinity report heavy damage being done to the peach and cherry trees and grape vines, they themselves suffering a substantial loss as a result of the heavy frost.

Circus Will Be Here On Monday

Grown-up and children of the town and district are keenly anticipating the visit of Cooper Brothers Circus to Grimsby on Monday next, May 25, when they will give two performances under the big tent on the Johnson property on Elizabeth Street, immediately north of the C.N.R. tracks at 2:15 in the afternoon and 8:15 in the evening. This Circus represents the old style one-ring show and Grimsby is the only place in the peninsula they will visit. The animals pictured in the large posters will actually be there in real life; strange beasts and birds from the mountain and jungle.

Then there will be the gala display of athletes, equestrians, riders, aerial and trapeze artists, and women of extraordinary ability in entertaining features of new aerial exploits of the flying trapeze.

Mothers and fathers, make it a never-to-be-forgotten day for the kiddies and one which you yourselves will enjoy to the full. Let this be a day for the whole family.

TRAFFIC HEAVY ON SUNDAY

Blossoms Were Scarce, Disappointing Visitors — Only One Accident.

From early morning until about 10 o'clock in the evening on Sunday, traffic through the district kept up an almost continuous parade, there being over a thousand cars per hour passing by while traffic was at its peak. Buses were filled to capacity and many extras were running to accommodate those who wished to drive through the peninsula. There were many disappointed people as far as seeing the blossoms was concerned for outside of a few of the later varieties of fruit trees the blossoms were scarce. The best display was to be seen during the middle of last week and remarks of the keen disappointment of sightseers to see the blossoms were heard on all sides and criticism was voiced of those who continued to spread the reports that blossoms would be at their best on Sunday.

Hotels, restaurants, refreshment stands and service stations and garages did a large volume of business, some being almost cleaned out of everything by night time.

Every indication of careful driving was observed and as a result only one accident of any consequence resulted, although there were many bumps of a minor nature. William J. Sweeney of Hamilton was returning home early in the evening and figured in an accident. His car was overturned and members of the family were considerably shaken up but escaped injury.

Picnic parties were prevalent along the sides of the highway and all roads. Traffic was confined mainly to No. 8 highway, the other roads being comparatively quiet.

"Movie Town" Built in B.C.

Like Pioneer Days — British Firm to Make Rail Construction Film

REVELSTOKE, B.C. — Gaumont British Pictures Corporation has started to turn part of Revelstoke into a railway construction town of 50 years ago. Carpenters made preparations to put false fronts on existing buildings and to erect new ones in old style.

The scene is being laid for filming
"The Great Divide," the picture version of Alan Sullivan's "Track of Destiny," the story of the building of a transcontinental railway across Canada.

One old warehouse will be false fronted to duplicate "The Rat Trap" saloon, a historical rendezvous at Holt City during construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Modern touches in the part of the town fronting on the industrial spur tracks and on Second street will be camouflaged to give the appearance of a reistering western town.

"Mobs" of 500 people selected locally will be used as supporting casts for the principals when the big scenes are shot in June.

Snow scenes were taken in this vicinity last winter and practically all of the outdoor scenes will be done
here instead of at Yale, B.C., as planned previously. Interior scenes will be taken in England. George Busby is director on location.

The cast will include Richard Arlen as John Hickey; Barbara Green as Mary Moody; Lilli Palmer as Nell
Regan; and Roy Emerton, Harry Mac-Kay, Percy Parsons and Jack Mac-Kay. More than a score of others from the British film world will be here. The featured players are expected to arrive about the end of May.

Notable Woman Research Scientist Dies in Toronto

TORONTO, Ont.—Canada mourned recently the death of one of her most distinguished research scientists, Mrs. Clara Speight-Humberson, 75, who died after a lengthy illness.

Author of numerous scientific books and articles, Mrs. Speight-Humberson devoted her brilliant intellect to research in mathematics, chemistry, physics, and biology.

Her most recent book, now in the hands of her British publishers, is said to prove, mathematically, the full correctness of Einstein's rela-tivity theory.

U.S. to Revise Customs Rules

Tourist Purchases — Regulations to Be Nearer Dunning Provisions

OTTAWA.—The United States Government is revising its regulations with respect to the amount of goods that tourists can take back from Canada free of customs duties to bring these regulations in line with similar provisions in the Dunning budget with respect to Canadians returning from the United States. It was learned last week on good authority.

Both countries now permit tourists to take home with them goods to the value of $100. The Canadian regulations, however, are more restrictive and for this reason the United States is considering certain revisions. It is considered unlikely that United States tourists will be permitted to take back as large a number of cigarettes as at present.
Tightening up on the regulations with respect to diamonds, which can be obtained in Canada at low cost, is also expected.

As yet there is no suggestion, however, that the United States will impose such strict regulations as Canada has, with respect to what constitutes a bona fide tourist. The Dunning budget provides that a person can only qualify as a tourist once every four months and must be in the United States at least 48 hours.

Men Are Better at Home Economics Than Women Are

DE PEW, N.Y. — Mrs. Margaret Metzger, who teaches cooking and home economics to 19 men and boys,
says that men make better students than women.

"Men bring a scientific viewpoint to the kitchen," Mrs. Metzger said.
"Their work is thorough."

Mrs. Metzger teaches in a home economics class for men conducted by the Works Progress Administra-

Canada Held Best Air Link Of Britain With Far East

MONTREAL — Completion of the trans-Canada air route from Halifax to Vancouver to strengthen the weakness of the Imperial Air Route to the Far East, at present imperiled by European unrest, was urged by George W. Wakeman, district inspector, aviation branch, department of national defense, during an address here. Access to the East by Britain in case of interruption of air communication between London, India, Australia and Oriental interests, could best be obtained via Canada, he said.

Explaining details of the trans-Canada air route, he said there would be about 110 airdromes, including 20 municipal airports, and at least two-thirds of the distance, 3,083 air miles,
would be over hazardous country,
necessitating many emergency airdromes. The courses would follow a direct line to Montreal, thence to Montreal, and (crossing a section of the State of Maine) Ottawa, Cochrane, Winnipeg, Regina, Lethbridge, Grand Forks, Princeton and over the Coquille Pass to Vancouver.

Discussing the Imperial Airways,
Mr. Wakeman said that the London-
Australia route stretching for 12,754
miles, was the longest in the world.
Due to the international understanding that each country has sovereign rights in the air above national territories, air activities are restricted.

The northern trans-Atlantic route from Great Britain to Montreal was considered impractical due to unfavorable weather and lack of ground communication, Mr. Wakeman said.

Frogs' Legs Give Jobless Income

LONDON, Ont. — Door-to-door
peddlers have been offering London housewives many kinds of foodstuffs during the past few months, but a new delicacy came upon the market
during the past few days.

Frog legs at 40 cents a dozen have lifted some of the unemployed from a meagre existence into a position of comparative affluence almost overnight. With the biggest crop of frogs in the district for some years, unemployed working in pairs have caught as many as 600 frogs in a morning at the Coves in South London.

To Original Shareholders of Pickle Crow & Central Patricia and to others who may be interested

Pickle Crow Shares sold in 1934 at 50c. They have been selling steadily for the past few weeks at above $6.00. Central Patricia could be bought in 1933 at 17c. It now sells above $3.40.

We, who sold Pickle Crow at 50c, now offer Gateway Patricia Gold Mines shares at 25c. The Pickle Lake-Gateway River district is now a proven gold producing area... one which we mainly sponsored and developed. You may well believe, therefore, that we would not have purchased 700,000 Treasury shares of Gateway Patricia outright if we were not fully satisfied of its unusual possibilities.

Facts About Gateway Patricia

The property consists of 27 claims (about 1,000 acres) directly adjoining Central Patricia, running for one mile due west and one-half mile on the north. On the projected line of strike of the Central Patricia main ore bodies Gateway Patricia has a length of one mile. Latest developments on the new ore bodies at Central Patricia—1,200 feet nearer the Gateway boundary—give assays about $14.00 per ton. The contract for diamond drilling on Gateway has already been let.

If you wish to participate in this new venture, send in your order

Diphtheria in Toronto

Comments the Toronto Star: In Toronto, diphtheria's ravages were reduced from 1,622 cases and 64
deaths in 1929 to 22 cases and no deaths at all in 1934. This was a record which, under present circumstances, the city could not expect to duplicate, and in 1935 there were 46 cases and 8 deaths, an insignificant number when compared with the record of 1929 and earlier years, before toxoiding of the city's children was undertaken.

It is the toxoiding of children which has wrought the change. Since 1929, 125,000 have been given this diphtheria-preventing treatment. It is not absolutely certain in every case, but results seem to indicate that the claim made for it—95 per cent.
efficiency—is more than justified. Its success is such that no parents can afford to leave their children unprotected when such a simple treatment is available.

The regrettable fact is that many parents have neglected this simple precaution. Of 100,000 Toronto children between 6 and 14, about 35,000
were said recently to be without immunization. And of 50,000 pre-school children 30,000 had not been treated.
These 65,000 little folk are the nucleus of a possibly serious epidemic.

Sees Extremes

Bible Institute Chief Says
Young Folk Better Or Worse Than Ever

TORONTO.—The good young people of today are better than ever, in the opinion of Dr. Paul Rood, president of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, who is here for the annual meeting for the World's Christian Fundamental Association.

Dr. Rood characterized the difference between modernism and fundamentalism as a question of authority.
"The modernist makes the fallible reason of man his authority. The fundamentalist accepts the infallible
revelation of God as his authority.
The modernist believes in salvation
by work, the fundamentalist in salvation by grace."

BROKEN ROMANCE

His engagement to Miss Susan Bligh, niece of the Earl of Darnley, was announced in May last. It was broken off fourteen days later. No reason was given.

Early this year the romance of Mr.
Tonge and Miss Seddon (that is her stage name) began.

She is twenty-four year old Felicity Margaret Seddon Widdowood, daughter of the late Brigadier-General E. H. Widdowood, of the Royal Tank Corps, who died in 1926, shortly after his return from the Waristrian campaign.

To find Miss Seddon's telephone number Mr. Tonge had to use the L-Z half of the London Telephone Directory.

On the cover of this directory since November last has been the colored photograph of Miss Susan Bligh.

The Treasure of Elba

Efforts to salvage the "Treasure of Elba"—a mysterious cargo believed to have been sunk off Elba in the time of Napoleon—are to be made shortly by the Italian salvage ship Artiglio.

This is the vessel that recovered about $5,000,000 worth of gold from the British liner Egypt which sank off Ushant in 1922.

It is generally believed that the treasure consists of valuable works of art taken by Napoleon from Italian museums. The ship conveying them to Marseilles, called the Luce or the Polluce, sank in a storm just off the coast in 1799. A carriage made entirely of gold, and gold ingots valued at $1,000,000 are said to be in the wrecked vessel.

Quebec Province has waterpower resources estimated at 13,000,000 horsepower.

Baby Food

Combinations of Vegetables and Fruits Are Favored

When baby's solid food diet consists of just two or three teaspoons-ful of vegetables a day, it's really quite a problem for mothers to get much variety into his meals.

Unfortunately it isn't practical to prepare just a few teaspoons of carrots one day, a few tablespoons of spinach the next. And the result in most homes is that baby gets the same vegetables day after day, or that you are forced to the extravagant practice of throwing away perfectly good foods.

What most mothers haven't realized until recently is that this lack of variety in baby's diet may lead to imperfect nutrition. No single vegetable or fruit contains all the minerals and vitamins that babies need.
In view of this fact, the recent inroduction of solid foods for baby in combinations is quickly winning the approval of leading doctors everywhere.

Three combinations of vegetables are offered. Spinach, carrots and peas are included in one; tomatoes, pumpkin and string beans in another; and beets, peas and asparagus tips in a third. There is also a combination of prunes, pineapple juice and lemon juice.

All of these combinations of baby foods were recommended by leading baby specialists to provide a diet of balanced nutritional values, and all are prepared by a special method of homogenization which makes them far easier to digest and much more nourishing than the same foods prepared by sieve straining.

Perhaps some inspired Burbank of the future will succeed in growing a single vegetable or fruit that furnishes all the vitamins, minerals and other food essentials needed to satisfy normal nutritional requirements.
But in the meantime, mothers can solve the problem by feeding baby homogenized foods in balanced combinations.

our minds to encompass."

Lesson They Never Learned

Two persons were killed and sixteen injured in automobile accidents on Western Ontario highways over the week-end.

That is a pretty good record considering the fact that spring has scarcely come to Western Ontario
yet. When warmer weather comes and cars get really going on the highways, if that rate is maintained,
we may look forward to an eventful summer.

One of the fatalities was the old story of a man driving a horse vehicle after dark without carrying a light. The other was the still older story of trying to beat a locomotive over a level crossing.

The injuries received, most of them
very serious, were from the usual run of accidents—too much speed to hold control; passing on a hill, head-on collisions, etc., that had their ending in sixteen people going to the hospital, from which some will emerge sound; some maimed for life, and some may never come out alive.

Everyone of those drivers knew
the risks of highway motoring.
Everyone of them had seen or heard of the other fellow meeting injury or death in week-end accidents, and no doubt every one of them had condemned those other fellows for their careless disregard of safety driving under similar circumstances to their own.

But they never learned the lesson.
Neither will many others. This week-end many more will go to the hospital and a few more will go to the cemetery. And next week-end it will be the same.

Apparently the human race is incapable of learning lessons of caution or even common sense, as far as motoring is concerned. —The Huron Examiner, Sarnford.

the theory that mind has an increasing influence over matter."

Motoring Under the Alps

It will be possible to motor under the Alps, between Switzerland and Italy through the famous Simplon tunnel, if plans submitted to the Swiss Federal Railway authorities are carried out.

The plans are for the establishment of a motor road through one of the two railway tunnels. The work of conversion is expected to cost some three million Swiss francs
—about $100,000 at current rates.

Why You
Should Have It
1. Costs only 1/2¢ an hour to use
2. Lays instantly
3. Stays in a few seconds
4. Quickly ready for use
5. Maximum evenness
6. Hottest on the point
7. Irons with less effort
8. Saves 15 minutes
time
9. No fire to build
10. No ashes to carry

The Book Shelf

BY MAIR M. MORGAN

WAKE UP AND LIVE by Dorothea Brande (Mason Book Co., Toronto), $2.00, is a book out of the ordinary. Here is a handbook which we all should read. How many of us, professional people, executives, teachers, students, housewives, give the best we are capable of each day? Very few. Mrs. Brande, two years ago, learned a way of life that revolutionized her existence and now success crowns her efforts. Before that time Mrs. Brande had been an editor and writer for twenty years and had produced forty-two short pieces of work. Now, within a space of two years, she has written three best-selling books and twenty-three shorter pieces.

We all have read, in search of a solution to our lethargy—treatises on the will to power—the will to live and have met with indifferent, spasmodic success. Mrs. Brande calls our attention to the fact that we are all governed strongly by THE WILL TO FAIL, and points out the fact that failure has its rewards! For instance the devoted wife who takes pleasure in the success of her husband and children and dismisses all thought of her own capacity of self-expression. And how about the universal charmer who so fills his hours in aimless parties and empty social chatter, that he has no time to think of his uselessness in the scheme of things.

The twelve disciplines outlined in the latter part of the book are full of common-sense and I have already tried two of them. For instance, No. 1 advises "Spend an hour every day without saying anything except in answer to direct question." Try it—you will be amazed at the effect it has on your friends!

No. 4—"Talk for fifteen minutes a day without using I, me, my, mine. This is a very difficult rule to follow in these days of inflated self-esteem. The tenth rule is an interesting one and outlines a plan for a day that will produce many new lines of thought. A truly helpful book written in an easy, sympathetic style. I advise everyone to buy a copy immediately.

THE IRON WILL by Margaret Culkin Banning (Mason, Ltd.), $2.00, offers this author at her best. This is an ideal book for summer week-ends, as it is entertaining, rapid in pace and amusing in dialogue. The background is realistic and true to the atmosphere and conditions of the American scene it portrays.

Brigid Temple, beautiful and wayward, heiress of a vast fortune finds her bankers in Paris, greeting her demands for money with a stony stare, so she returns to Minnesota in a temper to set her executors right.

She arrives to find the mine-owners and the State locked in legal battle, the outcome of which may leave her practically penniless. She plunges recklessly into the fray despite the consternation of Peter Harlow, who has been called in as expert witness. Miner, society matron, debutante, political boss are all extremely well portrayed.

Lord Willingdon

Comments the London Times: "Lord Willingdon meets his successor in Bombay and embarks for his homeward journey after a period of service to the Empire which must be almost without parallel for its importance, its duration, and its continuity. With the exception of four years in Canada as Governor-General and a Mission to China in 1926, this service has been rendered wholly in India. There Lord Willingdon crossed the great watershed of modern history, for he took charge of the Governorship of Bombay little more than a year before the outbreak of the War, and one of the first of his many contributions to the good of India was his instinctive recognition that Bombay, and not Simla or Delhi, was the real base of the Indian continent, to whom he gave untiring support and encouragement as they passed through the great port. His acceptance of the Governorship of Madras, at the conclusion of an extended term in Bombay, was an unusual step; but it was proof of the love of India which had already captivated him, and for the quality of his devotion to her interests. And from Madras, after an interval, he passed to the highest place of all."

"What does Clara think of your suit?" "She said it was hardly fashioned to her taste."

PROBLEMS OF EVERY DAY LIFE

By Dr. M. M. Lappin

A young woman has written to me and her letter brings to the light of day a problem which is very old and quite common. Briefly it is this:—An aged and invalid mother makes it necessary for someone to stay at home and care for her. This young lady has sacrificed her position, and has even refused an offer of marriage to look after her mother. But there are other members of the family, some of them married and with children of their own, and they think that because they are contributing a little to the maintenance of the aged and invalid mother they have the right to command the sister who looks after her. She is so tied she can hardly go even to a show without having to take with her one of her nephews or nieces. If she shows resentment, then she is made to feel her dependence upon the family. Yet loyalty to her mother constrains her to remain at home when she might be as the other members of the family are, quite independent.

Now that is certainly not an uncommon problem. Unfortunately, it has its basis in selfishness. Perhaps the other members of the family would be shocked to be told that they are selfish. They would no doubt tell of what they are doing for and giving toward the maintenance of the aged mother and the sister who looks after her. Exactly! But supposing this sister should accept the offer of marriage which she has a perfect right to do, what then? Why, they would either have to arrange to take the aged mother into one of their own homes or pay someone to look after her. In either case they would certainly be worse off.

It is just the same old story of refusing to "put ourselves in the other fellow's place". Most of the trouble in the world arises from just that—failing to see the other's viewpoint. If only members of a family like this would try to put themselves in the sister's place they would want to relieve her more, I am sure, rather than make her the slave of the family.

After all, we all have the right to a certain amount of time which we should be able to call our own. And my correspondent should be no exception to that rule. She is to be admired for her willingness to sacrifice for her mother's sake, but I think she ought to be strong enough to assert herself. She should point out to the members of her family that she has her life to live and is entitled to live it. She should remind them that what they are doing is not merely for her mother, but for their mother also. She is fulfilling her responsibility and their contribution to upkeep is but the fulfillment of their responsibility and it ought not to obligate her.

It is a pity when aged parents become a burden to those whom they reared and for whom they sacrificed and labored. But I think a situation like this is due more to thoughtlessness than to anything else, and perhaps a frank heart-to-heart talk is all that is needed to put it right. At all events, folks should try to be reasonable and to do unto others as they would like to be done to. The observance of that Golden Rule would make life much more tolerable for many and the world would be a better place in which to live if we tried to observe it more often.

Day in the Life of The Plant Doctor

It is dawn, but, moved by the agitated voice on the telephone, he seizes his herbaceous kit and hastens to the garden where the patient droops. "I fear you were right—Sclerotinia paeoniae! But there is hope." "Ah, bless you! Then later can you operate on my ornithopalum for warts?" "Yes, unless it rains, but I must consult with the surgeon before diagnosing your lark canker as Dasysepha wilkomii. Possibly halotherapy is indicated."

Thus the busy day of a modern horticultural healer—applying luscious here and Black Leaf 40 or Kansas grasshopper bait there; now wrestling with a bad moth and next unmasking woolly aphids; mixing a tonne for a regal lily or a little poison for a rose with the yellows; drawing a spray-gun on terrarium scale; ordering the diet of weak sweetpeas.

Already there is plenty for a plant doctor to do in even a small suburban community, and who can doubt that the future will find him as constantly in demand as the physician is today? Every one at the Flower Show was impressed by improvements in apparatus for conserving Flora's health.

The appalling but important and instructive exhibit of causes, effects and remedies of plant diseases at the New York Botanical Garden obliges one to shudder at the might of uncountable hosts forever seeking to devour our plants, and therefore ourselves, yet it encourages by evidence that most of them can be overcome—if you know how and start in time. Dainty butterflies, minute scales destroy an ancient forest; a farmer loses his year's labor to a sudden onslaught of one enemy on the long list of blights, rots, rusts, smuts, mildew, scab, and so on—but the bright side of the fearsome picture is our lately won ability often to fend off such misfortunes instead of accepting them as inescapable.

Plant pathologists, one day, will be summoned at the first symptom of serious illness in garden, field or wood. Tree surgery will be commonly resorted to and less expensive. A gardener baffled by some disease whose remedy he does not know will be able to call in a specialist for his shrubs just as now he takes an ailing pet to the veterinarian.

The profession probably will pay well, but preparation for it cannot be simple nor short, since immense laboratory work is required to treat plants, whose diseases come from numerous categories—slime molds, insects, mites, fungi, worms, bacteria and parasites—and a plant doctor's knowledge of chemistry, structure and entomology must be considerable.

It is a lucky thing for mankind that because of prolonged and toilsome research our floral therapy almost keeps pace with our plants' afflictions. The pathologist is certain to emerge from his laboratory to become the family doctor for neighborhood farms and gardens, and will be a welcome new general practitioner.—N. Y. Herald-Tribune.

Freight-Yard

Have you ever watched the fascinating shower Of signal-lights across the yard at night. The weird red flares and green where rails engage, Or, fanwise, spread away like giant thrums? Here ebony monsters pant and purr their power, Puff skyward ruddy flames and wisps of white, Or, roaring, buck their shackles in a rage, And cough and grunt and beat like devil drums.

Have you ever heard the wildest melody That man, cold iron's master, ever made? The shrill, protesting agony of steam Against the sluggish drag and burning road? Or felt, perhaps, in this mad symphony, This episode in music grandly played, Titanic slaves were struggling in a dream To break away and seek the open road?

SIGNS POINT TO BIGGER PROFITS FROM JUNE CHICKS

By FRED W. BRAY

I BELIEVE June and July Hatched chicks are going to prove better profit-makers than usual this year. For two reasons.

First, fewer eggs are going in to cold storage this Spring than a year ago (and last year's storages were below average). This should have a decidedly steady influence on Winter egg prices. We are bound to have a drop from the peak of October and November, but through December, January and February prices should run at profitable levels. June-hatched pullets should be in full flush of production at that time.

Second, exports of dressed poultry to Britain are increasing enormously. This past Winter Canada shipped OVER A MILLION POUNDS of frozen chicken to Great Britain, and all authorities say we have only scratched the surface. June and July cockerels will finish nicely for the beginning of next season's exports.

Bray stock is well suited to these new developments. Our chicks come from vigorous, thrifty stock. They live well and grow rapidly. The pullets usually lay at 5 months or younger, and often reach 50% production at 6 months. The cockerels take an excellent finish when well fed. Place your order now. We already have many orders booked for June delivery. Send for our special "end of season" price list.

CHAPTER IV

Grimsby Village — Autumn 1859
Installation 31

"That church was built at the Fifty in 1819 because of the large settlement of Methodists nearby, and they called the escarpment Methodist Mountain around there and farther on past Stoney Creek," said Ira Calder.

"My father-in-law is fast getting me acquainted with all the people and chronicles around here."

"You are fortunate," exclaimed Mr. Woolverton. "It is an interesting study. I find it so and after all doesn't the best of our present heritage come from the church-going pioneers who made almost super-human efforts to make Canada a God-fearing country. What were you going to say about those three men?"

"Oh yes, John VanDuzer, Peter Bowslaugh and Henry Cline's farms all adjoined as the homesteads do now. The first two on the mountain and Henry Cline's beneath, not far from the Fifty church which was a new building in 1820. All three were untiring church men of great assistance to their busy superintendent, Isaac Smith, who lived away off at the Twenty. John VanDuzer and Peter Bowslaugh were both made local preachers. I don't know about Cline, but VanDuzer had a regular route which he habitually travelled from Hamilton to Niagara, and Peter Bows-laugh did the same, travelling from Hamilton to Oakville. Peter was the life of the love feasts he attended, and often took his friend, Henry Cline, with him. They were sturdy dutchmen from Pennsylvania but could speak English, and in commenting on Peter Bowslaugh's power, explained his appreciation to father when he told him, "My soul was in the tops of the cedars when he was trowling shunks of fire among the people." Henry Cline said he'd stand up at the back of a chair and commence the service hurriedly:

"Salfashion, O to shoyful sound vat pleasure to our ears!" then pray and speak with a liveliness, and power most impressive. In relating one of his christian experiences he remembered him saying, "I tank Got, that Got is Got, and that I am Peter Bowslaugh."

Mr. Woolverton smiled. "And a glorious idea quaintly expressed. Was he a relative of John B. Bowslaugh who had the camp meeting on his place a few weeks ago?"

"Oh yes, he would be his grandfather, and his other grandfather, John Beamer, gave him that forest, a couple of hundred acres, I think. But here is father now. He'll tell you better than I can about those early Methodists."

William Beamer came over and greeted his old Baptist friend.

"We're on the pioneer stories, Mr. Beamer. I was telling your son-in-law about Jacob Beamer donating the land for our Baptist Church at Beamsville. One of those Beams was a Methodist, wasn't he?"

"Why yes, there may have been more, I don't know, but I do know that John Beamer left his property to the Wesleyan Methodist Missionary Society, and he was a rich man. Those were the days when Rev. Wm. Case, that courageous father of Indian Missions, commenced his great work all alone among the Indians, at that time very warlike and degraded. He started teaching them in addition to his tremendous duties travelling through the length and breadth of the country as presiding elder with Henry Ryan. He'd take Upper Canada when Ryan had Lower Canada and vice versa. Case kept working with the Indians until he proved to the church they were redeemable and then he was made superintendent of Indian Missions in 1828. So you can imagine that gift from John Beamer to the new struggling missionary society was very much prized."

"Didn't Wm. Case make his bachelor home with that pillar of your church, Mr. James Gage of Stoney Creek?"

"Yes, he did. That was his headquarters when he was home which I guess wasn't very often."

"I met Case several times," said Mr. Woolverton, "in a business way. He was an exceedingly friendly man. I imagine his tact would help him as much as anything to reach the Indian."

"No doubt, I know the local preachers and all men under him wherever he went had a great affection for him. He fell off his horse a few years ago in '55 from which he never recovered, but his work lives on."

"No doubt about it, and I like the importance your church gives the layman in the local preacher," said Mr. Woolverton.

"They do very good work when they have authority like that, and keep the spiritual fires burning at home in this new country where the ordained men must be spread over such a big area until he comes again every one or two weeks on his rounds," explained Mr. Beamer. "I'll tell you who was an outstanding local preacher about that time. It was Smith Griffin of Smithville. The village was named after him, by the way." He took off his cap and ran his fingers through his white hair. "To go back a little, Richard Griffin's father came over from New York State, a U.E.L. in 1787, with a year's supply of provisions in big wagons, a few cattle and his wife and eleven children, seven boys and four girls. They hacked their way through the almost trackless forest, crossed Niagara River on a large raft, forded the creeks one by one as you and our ancestors did, if they didn't come by boat, till they came to the Twenty or River Jordan. The Griffins were millers, and had brought along two grinding stones, so two of the boys journeyed up the river to find suitable location with sufficient water power for a mill from which the land was gently rising to a level stretch, a fine place for the log dwelling. That was the first home of Smithville.

"Young Smith Griffin later became a local preacher. In the week days he was farmer, mill owner, merchant, and intensely busy, and on the Lord's day he went far and wide to preach. Besides that he was most liberal in advancing the cause of God. When his grandson, William S., decided for the ministry he started him off with the gift of a horse and saddle. Egerton Ryerson started in the same way when the boy needed encouragement, starting out alone without his father's consent."

"He chose a future famous man that time to assist," said Ira Calder admiringly. "What was the trouble?"

"Young Ryerson's parents settled on Long Point on the north shore of Lake Erie. They had four boys. All four became deeply religious, all four joined the Methodist church and all four became Methodist preachers against the will of their father. To the youngest, Egerton, his father gave him his choice to leave the Methodists or his father's house. The boy chose the Methodists. It was then that Smith Griffin gave him that necessary aid of a horse and saddle and with it the inspiration which the boy needed to follow his ideal. He was always assisting people who needed help like that."

"I often wondered why Smith Griffin left Smithville and spent the evening of his life near Brantford. He did, didn't he?" asked Mr. Woolverton.

"Yes, and I understand this is what happened. It's just another story of how the Lord looks after his own. A good neighbor of Griffin's, a Presbyterian minister whom he had influenced to enter their ministry when a boy told me this."

"Toward the end of Smith Griffin's life, though no fault of his own, he lost his property and was in a pretty bad way, but to make a long story short a deputation of Indians came to him from the Six Nations one day, insisting on his going with them on a horse which they brought, saddled and bridled. He went and they took him to a beautiful tract of land of 600 acres on the Grand River.

"Here," said one of them, 'take any one of these farms you like.'

"How is this?" said Griffin.

"Because when I was a poor boy, naked, hungry and ignorant you gave me a home, fed and clothed me and sent me to school and made me what

Mayne; vice-president, Miss Nem Bourne; Secretary, Miss Marge Croft; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Helen Lohman; Treasurer, Wilson Johnson; Dramatic Convener, Miss Florence Laing. Members of the local council were present at the meeting and gave a talk on the provincial camp at Lake Couchiching.

FIRST SOFTBALL GAME

Beamsville Pirates won the first game of the softball season at Beamsville on Monday night when they defeated the Smithville aggregation 5-2. The locals took an early lead and held sway throughout the seven-inning struggle. Murray Tufford made a homer in the second by a long fly over centre field, to drive in Best. Best is a new man for the Pirates, coming from Winona, otherwise the team is intact from last year.

I am.

"Griffin accepted the gift and spent his remaining days happily near Brantford on his 200 acre farm."

"Wonderful," agreed Mr. Woolverton. "There is always a way out, complicated as it may seem." He looked up quickly at the sky through the trees then pulled out his pocket watch.

"I declare, it's eleven o'clock."

"Don't see many of those in Canada," said Mr. Beamer. "Keep good time?"

"Yes it does. I got it in the States when I was over. I couldn't do without it now I've got used to it."

"No, I'm sure it's handy to be able to carry it around." They heard a big clock strike as the men neared the house. "When father came back after settling the estate over there he brought our big clock along from the old home, strapped it on the horses back between two feather ticks."

"They are very handy alright. The sun dial and hour glass will serve a long time yet though before they are common, I think. By the way, Dennis Nixon will be up with some apples for cider. He wanted me to find out when it would suit you."

"Oh, this afternoon if he wishes. That's quite a house he built. He must have put a lot of money in it."

"I watched Dennis Nixon building Nixon Hall many a time when it was going up," said Ira Calder, "when I was travelling around with my books. He built a furnace in the ground and piled the best lumber he could get at the mill around it crossways, and kept that furnace going till every board was seasoned perfectly, then the planing was done at the driving house. I like that place. It seems to be nearer the village now it's beside the road."

"Yes, it looks pretty fine," said C. E. "The women folks are very fond of flowers and have it looking beautiful from the road. The old place was so far back you could hardly see it. Linus says Julia is one of the five girls going to Grammar School. She's quite a girl. I heard her playing the piano. Her father takes her up to her Uncle John's at Winona for a lesson from Mrs. Williams who comes once a week to teach his girls."

"Well, well," said Mr. Beamer, "And there's no reason why our girls shouldn't have as much education at school either. I'm glad they are giving them a chance."

The boys brought over the keg of cider to the wagon. "It's right full, father, and those apples made it as sweet as honey," said Linus.

"Thanks Mr. Beamer for this. Perhaps I can do something for you someday," said Mr. Woolverton stepping up into his wagon.

Drivers for the Canadian-American line have built up an enviable reputation for skill . . . courtesy . . . reliability.

That's why most people prefer to travel by Canadian-American, otherwise known as the Bulldog line . . . operating between Detroit and Buffalo and with connecting carriers all over the United States and Canada.

THEIR ASSETS—Health, a few securities, and hope for the future.

THEIR PROBLEM—To raise money for a temporary need, and still retain their securities.

THEIR SOLUTION—They talk it over with their banker, arrange to borrow against their securities. Within a reasonable time they pay off their loan (for they are thrifty), and will get back their securities intact.

Thus the firm of Mr. and Mrs. have established a line of credit. Perhaps even more important, they have discovered their local bank manager is more than a banker—he is their friendly counsellor too.

Noted Publisher Dies In Victoria

Publisher of Vancouver Sun Was Internationally-Known Canadian

VICTORIA, — Robert J. Cromie, newspaper publisher, traveller and commentator on world events, died suddenly here last week. Cardiac trouble was given by Coroner E. C. Hart as the probable cause of death.

All British Columbia and his scores of friends in Canada and many lands mourned his death. "British Columbia's loss is great," said Premier Pattullo when informed of Mr. Cromie's death. His expression was echoed everywhere.

Mr. Cromie knew men in all walks of life and in all countries of the world. A great traveller he visited foreign lands on every opportunity but it was the great Pacific area that held his strongest interests.

Mr. Cromie talked often with government leaders in China and Japan. After one visit to the Orient he came back to Canada more impressed than ever with the importance of the Pacific area. "The historic event of our time," he said, "will not be the Great War or the great depression—it will be the modernization of Asia."

Appeared Youthful

A vigorous man who looked even more youthful than his 45 years, there was no indication to the casual observer that he enjoyed anything but the best of health.

The travel portion of his life, years which he devoted to study of world events in political, economic, social and cultural aspects, and to a multitude of interests impossible to a man of less energy, came after he had consolidated his position as a publisher.

The son of Henry James Cromie, a native of Ireland, and Sarah Cromie, a native of Australia, he received his early education in the public schools and a business college in the eastern townships of Quebec. He came West in 1906 worked in many capacities for three years, all the time going to night school and business college, until he joined the staff of Foley, Welch and Stewart, contractors, with whom he was connected for 10 years.

Acquiring private means he entered the publishing field and reorganized and consolidated the Vancouver Sun, the News Advertiser and the Vancouver World into the Vancouver Sun, an evening newspaper.

He married Bernadette Grace McFeely, daughter of E. J. McFeely, Vancouver, in 1912. Four sons and one daughter survive.

Stopping Accidents Means Actual Cash

"Safety Influence" Vital Factor in Ontario Industrial Plants

TORONTO.—"If you don't stop accidents, who will?" was the challenge given by E. E. Sparrow, of Toronto, retiring president of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association, to 1,576 plant executives and safety experts who assembled recently for their annual two-day convention at the Royal York hotel in Toronto.

Industrial safeguarding of plants and workers was the chief responsibility of employers, Mr. Sparrow declared, and every effort must be made to demonstrate to employees that "accident prevention means actual cash to them." This, coupled with the steadily growing interest of executives, showed that industry in Ontario was taking advantage of the remarkable services rendered by the organization for employer and employee.

At the opening of the convention, meetings were held of the ten safety associations, representing 17 different classes of industry under compensation, which constitute the Industrial Accident Prevention Association. The members of these associations, according to R. B. Morley, general manager, make their "safety influence" left in nearly 10,000 industrial plants in Ontario, with payrolls totalling over $250,000,000.

An outstanding evidence of the interest in the work of the associations was indicated by the international greetings that had been received from safety organizations in 15 different countries.

A feature of the convention was the rehabilitation clinic which had been moved from the Workmen's Compensation Board Headquarters for the convention, so that its methods and results could be thoroughly appreciated by those in attendance.

A patent was recently issued on a method for coating shoes with rubber for shipment. The rubber is sprayed on in liquid form.

COULD NOT SLEEP FOR NEURITIS

How She Found Relief

This woman suffered so much from neuritis that she found it difficult to get a good night's sleep. Other sufferers will be interested in her letter:—

"Some years ago I had a stubborn attack of neuritis in both arms. At night I turned from side to side without sleep. Then my right hand got so stiff I couldn't bend it. Next my left foot got so bad I got out of bed with difficulty. So I had to have the doctor and give up work. I was afraid I couldn't get relief. He told me quite casually to take a little salt every morning. I tried a small dose of Kruschen Salts regularly, and the remarkable difference it made in a few weeks was almost unbelievable. Needless to say I have continued it ever since." — (Miss) E.W.B.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are notable for their work in dissolving uric acid—frequently the cause of rheumatic pains. Other ingredients of Kruschen assist Nature to expel the dissolved acid from the system.

Control of Arms Urged by Britain

LONDON.—The British Government has presented a four-point proposal for uniform international regulation of the arms traffic to the Royal Arms Commission.

It embraced a Foreign Office memorandum described as the result of 14 years of experience in international discussions.

The government, it was stated, considered an achievement of great value could be obtained if the principal arms manufacturing countries would agree to a convention accepting the following principles:

1. Strict national control of arms manufacture.
2. Publicity for arms produced, exported and imported.
3. Establishment of an international supervisory organ.
4. Responsibility of an international supervisory organ.

4. Responsibility to that organ for the accuracy of returns on manufacture and trade.

The memorandum also stated the government favoured conclusion of an international agreement regarding arms manufacture and trade.

The Royal Commission has been investigating private arms manufacture.

How Great Britain Balances Budgets

While the British press is busy grumbling about the new British budget, the American press, by and large, expresses admiration for John Dill's budget-balancing feats and is inclined to ask how on earth he does it, observes the Montreal Star. The New York Times pursues the subject far enough to show that the United States takes its taxation principally from the corporations and the "big fellows," whereas Britain taxes the "man in the street." It produces a table of considerable interest showing how much income tax is paid in each country, after deductions, by a typical taxpayer, in this case a married man, whose income is wholly "earned," and who has to support two children.

(Personal Income Tax)
	U.S.A.	Britain.
Net Income
$ 1,000	0	0
2,000	0	7
5,000	48	484
10,000	343	1,553
100,000	31,702	46,336
1,000,000	678,346	632,357

It will be seen at once that the Briton in the lower and middle brackets pays far more than his American equivalent. It is only when the very highest brackets are reached that the American approaches and, in the case of the million-a-year man, outstrips the Briton as an income-tax miler. In other words, this burden is far more widely distributed in Great Britain.

It should be added, of course, that the Federal income tax does not tell anything like the entire story in American, since various States also mulet the citizen in income taxes, and since the United States provides a plethora of nuisance taxes—such as the New York City sales tax—much as we do in Canada. But the general picture remains tolerably true, with the Americans "soaking the rich" more and more.

1,000 Boy Scouts, from 50 counties of England, Scotland and Wales gathered at Windsor Castle for the third National Scout Service, Sunday, April 19th, and were addressed by King Edward. It was the first Scout function attended by His Majesty since his accession to the throne.

In the course of his address the king thus referred to the international importance of Scouting: "The Scout Movement in its best and widest form is international, and that in these days is a thing of very great importance. I would like you all to remember when you have grown up, when your Scouting days are behind you and you are working in some form of employment this international aspect, because this country will always have to take a leading part in the affairs of the world."

HAVE YOU HEARD

One seldom hears of a woman cashier running away with her employer's money, says an exchange. But when she does she generally takes the boss along with her.

Old Friend—I'm glad to find you as you are. Your great wealth hasn't changed you.

Candid Millionaire—Well, it has changed me in one thing. I'm now "eccentric" where I used to be impolite, and "deliberately witty" where I used to be rude.

The young man grasped the hand rail of the last car and swung himself up to the rear platform, gasping for breath. It was plain that he was quite winded. A bronzed, heavy-set, middle-aged man eyed him with disfavor. "When I was your age, young man," he remarked, "I could sprint down the station walk and catch a train without puffing like that."

"Yes, but I—missed this one—at the last station," panted the new arrival.

King Solomon, he of the thousand wives, was called to the telephone. It was his physician on the wire. Doctor (enthusiastically)—I have big news for you!

King Solomon—What is it?

Doctor (excitedly)—Thus far today, you are the father of 16 children.

King Solomon—Just a moment. I'll connect you with the bookkeeping department.

Man—You seem to have a bad cold, old man. What are you doing for it?

Friend—Today I'm doing what Joe's told me to do. It's Smith's day tomorrow, and the next is Anderson's. If I'm not better by Monday, and if I'm still alive, I will try your remedy. Will you please write it out for me on this memo pad?

Most of us are hard up or very poor these days, and we are looking eagerly forward to the time when our pocketbooks will be full of crisp bills again. And when that time comes we will begin to complain because times are not better and the money is not rolling in faster. No matter how much we may succeed in accumulating, we are never satisfied.

Rastus Jackson and his wife had separated, and a neighbor was interested when she saw Rastus slip into the yard and disappear into their house. Deciding to investigate, the neighbor hurried to the back door and met Rastus emerging with a washtub tightly clasped in his arms and dragging a washboard and clothes wringer after him.

Neighbor—What you' kwine to do wid dem, tiggah?

Rastus (very emphatic) — Pawn 'em. Dat woman ain't gwine to vamp no other niggah wid mah weddin' presents!

Every cross-word puzzle fan is sitting up tight trying to invent something that will take its place and make as much money.

Daughter (as the radio ground out the last notes of the latest thing in jazz)—Did you ever hear anything so perfectly wonderful?

Father—No, I can't say I have, although I once heard a collision between a truck load of empty milk cans and a freight car filled with live ducks and geese.

DID THEY KILL HIM?

"While building a small structure in his back yard last week, Tracey Mariner had the misfortune to step into a hole, wrenching his back badly. Knowing the need of the family, several neighbors chipped in and completed the job."

Mrs. Youngbride (telephoning grocer)—I want you to send me two pounds of beefsteak.

Grocer—What kind would you like.

Mrs. Youngbride—I'd like it rare, please.

To Start Drilling Gateway Property

Arrangements have been completed for drilling at the Gateway Patricia property adjoining Central Patricia. It was announced by the Mines Development Department of H. R. Bain and Company who are underwriting the property. Boyle Brothers, of Port Arthur, who will conduct the drilling will take the drill into the property as soon as aeroplane transportation to the field is resumed. This is expected almost immediately. Diamond drilling follows a complete land survey of the claims which had already been arranged.

Gateway Patricia, 1080 acres in area, is the property immediately adjoining Central Patricia on the west. With definite values reported by previous owners who conducted a small, exploratory drilling campaign on a few of the northern claims, additional interest attaches to the present drilling owing to the fact that about a month ago it was reported in the Northern Miner that Central Patricia, in an exploratory campaign had intersected $14 ore, 1,200 feet nearer the Gateway boundary. In addition Gateway is on the line of strike of Central Patricia's main ore bodies for a distance of one mile.

In addition to the drilling campaign a complete electrical survey of the property will be undertaken.

To finance development 700,000 shares of Gateway are being currently offered to the public. Remaining in the treasury for future development are 1,500,000 shares of half the original capital of 3,000,000 shares.

Every Spring nature lovers are saddened by the wanton destruction of wild flowers that add a touch of color to the woods observes the Kitchener Record. The violets, Spring beauties and trilliums that once graced hill and dale in profusion are becoming scarcer from year to year. It is a pity to see these wild flowers gradually disappearing. If at all possible they should be preserved for posterity.

Probably it is too much to ask people to refrain from picking the blooms, but they should at least comply with the request not to uproot them.

Had What Can't Be Acquired

When Elie Spivak of Toronto was judging violin classes at the Stratford Musical Festival he listened to the playing of a young man from London and gave him 92 marks, which is running high, comments the Peterborough Examiner. One must indeed show a merit to go over the 90 mark at the Stratford festival. In making his comment Mr. Spivak said in part: "The boy had that amazing quality of greatness — he has a quality that cannot be acquired."

That is interesting; a "quality that cannot be acquired." It means that no amount of hard work which another less gifted person might put on the work would produce the quality that this contestant from London possesses. We believe Mr. Spivak would agree with the claim that a teacher could not impart that quality to a student; the teacher might instruct in methods of technique; might perfect the style, but back of it all would be that strange thing, "a quality which cannot be acquired. That view runs at cross purposes to the claim that "genius is actually the capacity for hard work." According to the finding of Elie Spivak, himself a musician of rare accomplishment, two people could devote the same energy and attention to the study of the violin, and one would outstrip the other because he might have that "quality which cannot be acquired." We are inclined to believe that view is correct and can be substantiated by experience and example in many lines of effort.

Such a contest as that at Stratford gives opportunity to bring talent to the surface; it can there be submitted to those who are competent to recognize it and pass judgment upon it. To the one who has "it" in any particular line of musical effort the judge can state with a certain degree of assurance that there is a future for the competitor who has that quality or talent "which cannot be acquired." The development of that talent will ultimately give us great musicians in our own right. And the truth is we need them.

Prairie Problems

Immigration is not a welcome word in these days of unemployment, but I believe the time is not far distant when a selective form of immigration will be both desirable and possible. I have in mind particularly those fitted and willing to engage in mixed farming on small holdings on a basis of self-sufficiency rather than for export. Tree, large areas in the West are not suited for mixed farming, and the local market there is definitely limited, but wheat will continue for years to be the major item of agricultural production on the Prairies. Fortunately, the world outlook for wheat is gradually brightening. Some progress is being made in regaining for Canadian wheat the goodwill of millers and the wheat trade generally in Great Britain. But present and prospective prices are such as to call for the minimum of production costs and the highest possible grades. Only in this way may our wheat farmers compete successfully in world markets. Meanwhile, Canada as a whole must seek to obtain, by trade agreements and otherwise, markets that have been lost in Great Britain, Continental Europe and the Orient. I think we have learned the lesson that our business is to sell at world prices rather than to hold it for speculation or with a view to forcing higher prices.—John Imlie in Canadian Business (Montreal).

New Seed Potato Certified WARBA

The new Warba potato is without a doubt, the finest origin of a century in the early potato class. It has been tried in many parts of United States and Canada, and all results have shown that it is fully two weeks ahead and more productive than the well known early variety Irish Cobbler. Its shape is roundish, skin and flesh white, eyes about the same depth as those of the Cobbler variety, but pinkish in color. It cooks well, is delicious and keeps very well. Our trial at Macdonald College last summer, has convinced us that it will soon be the leading early variety of potato for our northern climate. While our stock lasts:

New Method For Mining

In Gold Fields — Saskatchewan Rock Needs Different Technique.

GOLDFIELDS, Sask. — Should Saskatchewan's first gold camp join the ranks of Canada's mineral-producing areas it will write new chapters in the Dominion's geological records by extracting gold profitably from a new species of formation.

Lake Athabasca's gold comes in granite. The rock in which gold values are found is heavily fractured and is networked with quartz veins. This comes in huge zones, and the task of the mine-maker is to ascertain if these are of sufficient size to warrant large-scale mining operations.

Technicalities apart, it is apparent principal operators of the district believe large low-grade mines are to be found in the Athabasca field, for on two properties alone, Consolidated Smelters and Athabasca, almost $1,000,000 has been expended in exploration and development in the first year of the camp's existence.

Smelters alone will bring in 7,500 tons of heavy equipment and supplies over the water route from the end of steel during the coming summer, and by fall will have constructed a miniature city on its workings. The Athabasca property, seen from across the bay after the lights come on in the evening, presents the appearance of a bustling urban community. Scarcely past its first birthday, Athabasca's surface townsite sits atop a network of underground workings, where the task in hand is to delineate the vast fractured-granite zones and establish the presence of a large-scale mine.

That the major operators of the district have reason to believe such mines can be established in this new geological setting is discernible from the huge sums of money which are being poured into development in the far-flung camp, 300 miles north of the nearest railway line.

Distance is no problem, however, for freight costs from the end of steel are lower than in many eastern mining areas lying within 100 miles of the railway. A clean-cut water route, without portages, has been a major factor in the rapid development of Saskatchewan's first gold camp.

Babe In The Woods Will Live But Has Lost Both Her Feet

Nine-Year-Old Girl Lived on Snow for Nine Days

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. — Little Lucy Harris, Newfoundland's "babe in the woods," who lived on snow for 12 days, is slowly regaining strength in the hospital where surgeons have amputated both her frost-bitten feet. Fears that her left hand might have to be cut off were relieved when circulation was restored after constant treatment.

Assured she would live, her father started back to his home at New Melbourne to tell Lucy's mother and five brothers and sisters the good news.

Doctors said amputation was below the knees and this would permit the nine-year-old girl to walk with the aid of artificial limbs when she recovered from her terrible experience.

All Newfoundland has been touched by the story of Lucy Harris and a fund started by the St. John's Evening Telegram is nearing $1,000. The first donation came from Governor Sir Thomas Walsby.

The girl strayed from her New Melbourne home early in April and became lost in the forest. Snow was her only sustenance for 12 days. At night she slept on snow-covered ground.

Hundreds of searchers, led by her uncle, Chesley Harris, found the little girl too weak from exhaustion to walk. But she had not lost her courage.

"Hello," she greeted the men. "I'm the little girl that's lost." And as her uncle carried her out of the woods she told him: "I wasn't lonely or afraid because the birds sang."

First she was rushed to Old Perlican Hospital, but later she was removed to St. John's. For days doctors attempted to save her frozen feet, but on April 22 amputation was found necessary.

Last week they thought they might have to cut off one of her hands, too, but treatment found most effective on frost-bitten seal hunters restored the circulation.

Lauds British Finance Policy

Mr. Ferguson Interviewed In 'Frisco on Return From World Cruise

SAN FRANCISCO — Sound financial policies adopted three years ago are responsible for Great Britain's "muddling through" recent crises to world leadership in the opinion of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, former Canadian High Commissioner to London and former premier of Ontario.

Mr. Ferguson, who arrived here on the last lap of a world cruise which took him to all parts of the British Empire, declared the activity of the mother country was reflected in all parts of the Empire.

"There are no other countries in the world where business is as good. Great Britain leads and Canada and South Africa run her a close second," he said.

Ginger Rogers And Husband To Live Apart

But No Divorce Contemplated at the Present Time

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Ginger Rogers, dancing actress and her husband, Lew Ayres, actor-director, said last week they had decided to live amicably apart, but that no divorce was planned immediately.

"A joint statement, issued by the couple through a studio, said:

"Ginger Rogers and Lew Ayres have instructed their attorney's to draw up articles of separation.

"The action is entirely amicable. In the future the two will maintain separate residences. Miss Rogers will live with her mother, Mrs. Lela Rogers.

"No divorce is contemplated at the present time."

The film colony puzzled over the significance of this last announcement, but Miss Rogers and Ayres declined to amplify it.

Ayres took the petite, blonde actress for his bride November 14, 1934. Since, their careers have undergone rapid changes.

Ginger, who had enjoyed only ordinary success in the movies, teamed with Fred Astaire in the musical, "Roberta." The combination was a fortunate one. As a foil to nimble-footed Astaire, she rose to stardom.

A Full Sized Crowd Turns Out for the Wedding of Small People—

THE MARKETS

WINDSOR — An unlimited market for Western Ontario corn suitable for seed is available in Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Northern Michigan. Essex County grain dealers stated last week.

Some 50 Carloads

It is estimated that over 50 carloads of Number 2 grade of American Yellow corn have been shipped to the corn growing states from Essex and Kent counties.

"We could have sold any quantity of good seed corn in the States," declared R. A. Jackson, of Cottam Farmers Co-operative Limited. "Although there is a good supply of corn available for feed, good corn for seed purposes just cannot be bought." Mr. Jackson added, explaining that the American market is interested in corn which has a germination test lower than 90.

"We have been able to find four carloads of seed corn of a good standard," he explained.

Ship 10 Carloads

B. J. Burns of Hiram Walkers and Sons Grain Corporation stated last week that the Walker company had already shipped 10 carloads of corn for the American seed market.

According to men who buy corn every day of the week great care has to be exercised in the selection of corn for seed this year.

"It is a matter of personally inspecting every lot of corn which comes in," explained Adrian Teller, manager of the Belle River Grain and Seed Company.

"We can't afford to take anything for granted in the problem of selection because corn generally speaking is not as good for seed purposes as it was in former years. Only the record crop harvested last year makes it possible to provide enough seed corn to go around," Mr. Teller added.

Could Pay 75 Cents

If corn of germination count and purity could be found in this area to reach the Number 1 American yellow grade standards, dealers could pay the Western Ontario grower 75 cents per bushel despite the long freight haul to the American market, and the 25 cents per bushel duty.

All corn dealers were agreed this morning that the supply of good seed corn in large quantities from the Canadian corn growing counties is not overly plentiful because of the high moisture content of corn last fall and the severe low winter temperatures.

Similar in U. S.

Similar conditions obtaining in the states where Canadian seed corn is being sold have created the demand for seed corn where they claim. Spring floods and late autumn rains created a shortage in those areas.

Sees Ocean Service Soon "Commonplace"

NEW YORK — A prediction that Trans-Atlantic service would be "commonplace" within five years, was also made today by Charles P. Graddick, superintendent of air mail service, addressing the American Air Mail Society.

Describing the Trans-Pacific service as the "greatest undertaking in aviation," Graddick told how plans were shaping for a similar service over the Atlantic.

"Two or more routes are possible; one the shorter northern route from Newfoundland to Ireland, and the other, the southern route by Bermuda and the Azores.

Making 30,000,000 British Gas Masks

LONDON — Geoffrey Lloyd, the Under Secretary of the Home Office, announced recently that the British Government plans to produce 30,000,000 gas masks to safeguard civilians against any type of gas in war time.

He told the questioners in the House of Commons that the final design for the respirators had not been decided upon but assured the members all would be of British manufacture.

Increase Planned In Wheat Acreage

OTTAWA — The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports an increase of almost 1,000,000 acres in the area farmers will sow to grain this year if they carry out present intentions. The increase, about 3 per cent over last year's area, is confined almost entirely to Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The bureau basing its first crop report of the season, said the intended area for Spring wheat is 24,354,000 acres, compared with 23,560,000 last year and 26,464,100 acres in the peak year, 1932. The year's increase would be 793,450 acres.

It added the intended acreages of oats and Spring rye show little change from 1935. Barley, however, indicates an increase of 168,500 acres, or about 4 per cent while flaxseed will be up 22,400 acres, or 10 per cent.

The intended acreage of mixed grain, it said, is 1,145,500 this year, about 1 per cent less than last year.

The area of Fall wheat remaining for harvest in Ontario at 538,000 acres is practically identical with that of 1935. Less wheat was sown last Fall, but Winter-killing amounted to only 8 per cent or 47,000 acres, as compared with 19 per cent, or 130,000 acres a year ago. The condition of Fall wheat at April 30 was 90 compared with 85 at April 30, 1935.

Seeding of Spring grains is even later than 1935. Eight per cent of the wheat crop was sown prior to April 30, as in 1935, but only 3 per cent of oats and 2 per cent of barley were in the ground, compared with 11 and 8 per cent respectively a year ago. On the whole, the seeding is the latest since 1923.

The reports of crop correspondents throughout Canada at the end of April indicate seeding operations will again be late, but that soil conditions are satisfactory for germination and early growth. Winter-killing of meadows and pastures and of Fall-sown crops was less than usual.

Working Women Should Organize Into Unions

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told the National Women's Trade Union League convention recently that working women should organize into trade unions, just as men do.

"I know a great many women don't join unions," she said. "I know the reasons they give, but I have never quite understood them. I think they are unintelligent reasons."

Farm Problems

Conducted by PROFESSOR HENRY G. BELL with the co-operation of the various departments of Ontario Agricultural College.

The business of farming is yearly becoming more and more dependent upon facts that have been gathered regarding livestock and livestock management, crop production, soil management, disease and insect control and business organization of the farming industry. Individual problems involving one or more of these, and many other phases of agriculture, engage the attention of Ontario farmers from day to day.

Through this column farmers may secure the latest information pertaining to their difficulties. To introduce this service Professor Bell has prepared the following typical problems which should be given in order that a satisfactory answer can be made.

If answer is desired by letter enclose stamped and addressed envelope for reply. Address all inquiries to Professor Henry G. Bell, Room 421, 73 Adelaide St. W., Toronto, Ont.

Question:—"In constructing a farm workshop, having concrete walls, since action of frost in these parts does much damage to walls, I was wondering if the following structure would work: A wall to extend a foot below the grade and to reach 8 ft. in height. The wall is to be banked above the grade to a height

Blondes Preferred

Ontario's Young Doctors Like Them Intelligent Questionnaire Shows

LONDON, Ont. — Ontario's bachelor doctors are gentlemen. They prefer blondes, not too tall, not too petite, intelligent, they revealed in answers to a questionnaire sent out by the Ontario Medical Association Program Committee, arranging for the 50th annual meeting here.

The committee helpfully offered to arrange for partners for the visiting doctors, and asked specifications. A survey of the answers showed the preference for blondes, but without the dark girls being neglected.

"The lady I want must be able to eat and talk but without her mouth full," wrote a Hamilton physician.

"I want a dinner partner who can talk about music," specified a Windsor delegate-to-be.

"I'd like a good cooker, if these questions aren't a gag," wrote a skeptical general practitioner.

"A blind date's too dangerous," answered an Ottawa doctor.

Dr. C. C. Ross, general secretary, said the committee would do its best to meet all requirements.

Bowler Hats Are Popular in Paris For Smart Women

PARIS — The mannish British bowler has appeared on the fashion front here as one of the outstanding spring styles borrowed by femininity from "the mere male."

Some of the smartest women in Europe are wearing it with their spring suits in clean-cut dark felt designs, occasionally finished with a coarse mesh veil drawn smoothly over the face.

Among the derby's devotees is the Duchess of Kent, who stepped from a plane at Le Bourget recently wearing a black one with a black wool suit. A black satin blouse, a double string of pearls and twin silver faxes completed her outfit.

Spring suits worn with the bowlers are clean cut designs with slim skirts and jackets as trim as a man's business suit.

The waistcoat is another mannish fashion which is much in favor here. It appears with suits and capes, lending a tailored touch to the costume.

The "Stork Derby" Goes Merrily On; Prize — $500,000

Mrs. A. H. Timleck Gives Birth to Seventeenth Child in Eighteen Years.

TORONTO — Mrs. Arthur Hollis Timleck, who seeks the $500,000 in the Charles Vance Millar baby race, is the mother of a four-pound, three-ounce baby girl, 17th in 18 years. Millar left the money for the Toronto mother giving birth to the most babies in the 10 years following his death Oct. 31, 1926.

Although the decision in the unique race comes in October this year there is still doubt about the winner as contenders have experienced still births, something Millar's will didn't mention.

Mrs. Timleck declared the baby girl was definitely the last and she added that the fortune, if she won it, wouldn't bring her happiness unless some of the other mothers shared. She displayed the birth certificates of 10 babies she claimed were born since the date of Millar's death.

Mrs. Matthew Kenny who Feb. 5 became the mother of what she said was her 12th child since the Toronto barrister and sportsman died, claims leadership in the stork derby. The baby was still-born but Mrs. Kenny points out the will makes no mention of such births or of children dying in infancy.

Mothers in the race who have had nine births since the freak will was made known are Mrs. Joseph Baginato and Mrs. John Nagle. Those with eight are Mrs. Stefano Darrigo, Mrs. Ambrose Harrison and Mrs. Gus Graziano.

Says Women Bad Buyers

Women's League Hears Plea For Legislation Governing Merchandise

CINCINNATI, O. — Women are partly to blame for the worthless and sometimes dangerous foods and drugs sold by unscrupulous manufacturers, delegates to the National League of Women voters convention were told recently.

The convention, comprising 800 delegates from 36 states, will end tonight with a conference for college delegates and representatives.

Speaking on women's responsibility in regard to consumer legislation, Mrs. Harris T. Baldwin, Washington, D.C., chairman of the League's legislative department, said: "The specific stake of consumers in an economic system is difficult to isolate."

There are instances where women's interest as consumers is obvious," she said. "No woman wishes to waste the family income by buying any of these worthless or dangerous food, drug, or cosmetic products for which she pays a price completely out of proportion to their value."

No woman, she said, wishes to run the risk of marring her personal attractiveness or of courting serious illness by the use of dangerous cosmetics or reducing products, yet she has not persuaded Congress to enact legislation which will give her the information and protection which she is entitled to.

"Legislators aren't mind readers and wishful thinking in a Government such as ours is not enough. Effective expression of the desires of citizens is imperative," she said.

The problem is simple, Mrs. Baldwin said, but the actual legislation necessary to solve it is difficult.

"Women are inclined to be swayed, first by the spacious arguments of the manufacturers who wish to continue to sell practically worthless foods, drugs, and cosmetics at exorbitant prices, and who have no scruples about deluding the public into believing that their products are not dangerous to health.

"And second, by the arguments of those idealists who claim that nothing short of their idea of perfection in legislation is acceptable."

Answer:—"I would advise you to build a wall with footings at the base. As to dimensions for a wall 8 ft. in height, the wall should be 8 inches wide for the first 6 ft. of height and then taper to 6 in. at the top. The dimensions of the footings or base should be 13 in. wide in front of the wall and 2 ft. 3 in. at the back. The footing should be 12" deep.

The drainage can be taken care of by a 4" tile at the base of the footings. To have a bank of one foot of pebbles to within 8 in. of the top of the bank, will greatly assist drainage. (Signed) E. W. Kendall, Department of Agr. Engineering.

Great Canadian Surgeon Honored

United States Confers Trudeau Medal on Dr. E. W. Archibald of McGill.

Canadians should be proud of the conferring of the Trudeau medal of the National Tuberculosis Association of the United States at New Orleans upon Dr. Edward W. Archibald of McGill University for "inventing" a daring but effective method of surgery in chest tuberculosis. The medal is for the surgeon who "has made the most meritorious contribution on the cause, prevention or treatment of tuberculosis. Dr. Archibald laid the grounds for the introduction of the operation known as "thoracoplasty," performing the first operation himself in 1912, and through speaking and writing spread knowledge of the technique throughout Canada and the United States.

The thoracoplasty operation is the most drastic of the procedures known as "lung collapse therapy" and is recognized as a life saving means when other methods have failed or are impracticable. It is performed as both a limited and total operation.

More Men to Work in Bush

Says Louis Fine — Wage Pack Makes Strikes Unlikely This Year

TORONTO — Between 1,000 and 1,500 more men would receive employment in the pulpwood industry of the Thunder Bay district this year than last as a direct result of the industry in this area coming under the Industrial Standards Act of Ontario, Louis Fine, administrator of the act said last week.

Mr. Fine said that last year the pulpwood operators in Thunder Bay, Ontario's largest pulpwood district, contracted to deliver 100,000 cords of lumber to the mills, and were able to deliver only 60,000 cords due to disputes between employers and employees. This year the operators would be able to deliver the full amount called for in the contracts, he said.

"There will be no more labor strikes in Thunder Bay area," Mr. Fine said. "The workers and the employers have signed schedules under the Industrial Standards Act and between 1,000 and 1,500 more men will receive work for long periods. The schedule in the pulpwood industry is the first of its kind in the Dominion of Canada."

Loopholes in the act, have been removed and no longer could there be valid criticism against the statute on the score of enforcement, he said.

"The amendments to the act made in the course of the last session in no way involved a departure from the fundamental principle of voluntary application," he said, "nor is there the slightest indication that it will ever be. We, who are close to the statute's operation, are convinced that it will be beneficial."

News For Men!

Bridegrooms Enjoy Their Own Weddings Nowadays

NEW YORK. — Note to June brides: "Men enjoy a wedding more than they used to; brides scarcely ever weep nowadays."

This came from Marie Condet Brenning, who has been supervising weddings for six years and is a sort of all round errand girl to cupid.

"I haven't seen a frightened bridegroom for ages," said Miss Brenning. "Men actually have begun to enjoy their weddings. One reason is that weddings go off today with few hitches."

Miss Brenning, looking about for a job after she left college, decided to create a bureau that would "render any service to any bride."

She comes on call to a bride's home and directs the whole wedding from rehearsal to the placing of the "ubers" boutonniere; she advises on wedding etiquette, she even manages wedding by mail.

The average New York society wedding costs $5,000, Miss Brenning estimated. She has managed six $25,000 weddings, but staged one that cost $29.75. This was in the Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia. She counselled the couple by mail. One of the $25,000 brides paid $600 for her shoes.

AN OLD TIMER GOES BACK 40 YEARS

Spring Fever

Baseball! Baseball! It sure is one of the greatest games to watch or play. The old gent above will back me up on that I betcha.

This is manager Jimmy Dykes' 19th year as a major ball player. . . he's probably good for another ten, too.

We think we get crowds in America to ball games, etc., well maybe we do, but in England as many as 134,000 fans have paid to see a soccer game.

Torchy Peden, the red-headed hero of the wooden bowl, says in two or three years time he wants to quit this "round and round" business and go home to Vancouver to run for member of parliament. Torchy thinks and says quite outspokenly that this is his idea of a man's job.

Well folks, it sure looks like an ideal day for trout . . . I won't say more now . . . tell you all about it later.

So long . . .

height of 120 feet above the water line the Vice Regal guests viewed the surrounding landscape, securing a delightful view of the canal, the many orchards and homes in every direction.

The party then continued to Lock 5, where they halted to see the C. S. L. freighter Hagarty raised several feet.

The ladies left the party after the visit to the flight locks while the Governor-General and the remainder of the group, including Acting Mayor, F. G. Coy, N. J. M. Lockhart, M.P. and city aldermen, continued on to the Ontario Paper Mill. Here the Governor-General was met by Capt. A. A. Schmon. He was conducted on a tour of sections of the great plant, viewing particularly the machine rooms and the new steam boiler plant, the latter which he officially opened.

Then, on the return to the city, the Governor-General made a brief stop at the General Hospital to greet Mayor W. J. Westwood, seriously ill following pneumonia.

The Governor-General was then escorted to the special coaches and shortly after the Vice Regal party returned to the Y.M.-Y.W.C.A. for the reception.

The afternoon trip was one of unusual delight to the visitors, Mrs. Buchanan, mother of the Governor-General, who was escorted by N. J. M. Lockhart, taking particular pleasure in the tour, in the bridge ride and the inspection of the flight locks.

by who spoke as follows:
"To Fellow Canadians—far and near—
"Will you let your imagination focus, for a moment, on that garden spot of Southern Ontario, the Niagara Peninsula. Then, in this peninsula, imagine a thriving town nestled between the Escarpment, commonly known as the Mountain to the South and Lake Ontario to the North with the King's Highway running East and West through its main street, connecting the nearby cities of Hamilton, Toronto and London in the one direction with St. Catharines, Niagara Falls and Buffalo in the other.

"This is Grimsby, the heart of the soft fruit industry of Ontario, a town of about 14 years, grown from a pioneer settlement of many years ago, St. Andrew's Anglican Church having been in existence some 150 years and Union Lodge, A.F. & A.M., No. 7, almost as long.

"Spring has brought back the fruit blossoms to this fair place and viewing its floral beauty from the mountain above, it presents a veritable garden of Eden, a checker board of peach, pear, cherry, plum and apple blossom, intersected by vineyards, these in turn giving place to vegetable and flower gardens and in the distance the blue waters of Lake Ontario, framing the whole picture, which affords a background to make Grimsby a scene of real and beautiful homes, whose citizens are quick to sponsor any movement for its municipal welfare and cultural advancement.

"The chorus you have heard is composed of 150 school children, assisted by the Grimsby High School Glee Club and the Grimsby Young Men's Chorus. The assisting groups are composed very largely of individuals who became music conscious through their contact with music in our public schools. Thus has the public school instruction in music borne fruit.

"The people of Grimsby believe that their children need such an enriching cultural interest only slightly less than they need reading, writing and arithmetic. One might consider this effort as one of the evidences of our Canadian people emerging from the necessary striving of pioneer days, to a higher level of cultural achievement.

"It is becoming increasingly evident that educational authorities look with favour on this trend toward music in the Schools, one of its advantages be-

COUNTY MUSIC FESTIVAL HELD

Proves Highly Successful Event
—Many Entries — Trophies
And Other Awards Presented.

The Annual County Music Festival held in the Community Hall, Beamsville last week reflected most creditably on all who took part and revealed much promising musical talent in the various classes. There was keen competition among the contestants for the handsome trophies and other awards given, large audiences applauding the efforts of those participating.

The blowing out of a transformer left the district in darkness for an hour and a half Tuesday night and delayed the Lincoln County Music Festival considerably. Contestants carried on, however, by aid of candle and lantern light. Twenty contestants remained to be heard at 10 o'clock.

ing the uncovering of latent unsuspected talent. Our experience, here in Grimsby, bears this out.

"Your comment on this programme, sent to Mr. Gordon L. Eaton at Grimsby will be welcome."

The broadcasting equipment was installed in Trinity Hall by C.K.T.B., St. Catharines, over which station the program was broadcast to the Canadian Commission network of radio stations.

The Broadcast was made possible through the much appreciated co-operation of Mr. Ed. Sandell, owner of radio station C.K.T.B., St. Catharines, who placed the facilities of the station at the disposal of the town of Grimsby for the event. Mr. Sandell when interviewed by Mr. G. L. Eaton and Reeve Mogg some time ago readily agreed to co-operate in the undertaking, stating that he was glad to encourage such a worthy endeavour as the fostering of musical training in the schools.

AUTO WRECKED AND MAN HURT IN ACCIDENT
NEAR BEAMSVILLE

One man was hurt and an automobile was badly wrecked early Sunday morning, 1 1/2 miles west of Beamsville. A car driven by William Anderson of the Brick Yard Road, Beamsville, went into the ditch and after ploughing along 50 feet, dropped over the end of a culvert and then crashed into a Hydro pole. The pole was clipped off at the base. Anderson suffered lacerations to the head and hands and was treated by Dr. C. W. Elmore of Beamsville. Anderson told Prov. Const. D. H. Darby, who investigated, that a large bus, followed by a car had forced him off the road by cutting in front of him as they passed by.
